

Catherine Melvin, CIA, CPA, CLEA

Chief Auditor, Texas Department of Public Safety

Catherine Melvin serves as the Chief Auditor for the Texas Department of Public Safety. She has extensive experience in public sector internal auditing, including over 20 years' service as chief audit executive in the public sector. A leader in both state government and in the internal audit community, Catherine currently serves as a vice chair of the IIA International Public Sector Guidance Committee, and also leads the "Internal Audit Leadership Development Program" for Texas state agencies. She has focused her career in public service, assisting Texas state agencies achieve their goals and objectives while being accountable to the public for efficiency, transparency, economy, effectiveness, and excellence. In addition to her service with the Texas Department of Public Safety, Catherine was elected to the Texas Employees Retirement System (ERS) Board of Trustees in 2017 and currently serves of one of three elected board members.

Outside of work, Catherine and her husband enjoy being full-on dance and baseball parents, supporting their two children in their extracurricular activities.